

Visionix and Right MFG to enter a long-term strategic partnership

PARIS, May 16, 2022 – Visionix and Right MFG Co., Ltd. (“Right MFG”) announced today that they have entered a long-term strategic partnership agreement, expected to accelerate growth for both companies. Visionix will become the exclusive partner of Right MFG, and distribute Righton products in Europe, the America’s and Asia Pacific (excluding Japan and China). In addition to distribution of the popular Retinomax handheld autorefractor/keratometer, the companies will co-develop a new range of products for the eye care market.

“We’re proud to partner with Right MFG to offer our customers this well-known, highly respected product range.” said Dr. Marc Abitbol, the CEO and President of Visionix. “This partnership is the continuation of a long and fruitful relationship between our two companies.”

The partnership aligns both companies for long-term growth by combining Visionix’ extensive global distribution network with Right MFG’s commitment to high-quality development and production. By leveraging these respective strengths, the agreement creates compelling value for both companies while promising even more high-performing solutions designed for eye care professionals.

“We gain enhanced access to Visionix’ global distribution, a powerful and extensive network,” said Mr. Osamu Tsunoda, President of Right MFG. “At the same time, we will concentrate our efforts on developing and manufacturing the next generation of eye health solutions, with the expertise and quality for which we’re known.”

Beginning January 1, 2023, all Righton products will be integrated into the Visionix portfolio and sold under the Visionix brand name. Visionix (formerly Luneau Technology) will ensure the continuity of high-quality service for existing customers of Righton products, per rules defined by Right MFG. “We look forward to collaborating closely with Right MFG to continue innovating new mobility solutions for eye care professionals,” said Dr. Abitbol. “We’re confident we have all the ingredients to meet customer needs.”
